Group II: Claims 15 and 17-23, drawn to a method of acquiring a signal by calculating updated acquisition data and setting a code phase window size, classified class 342, subclass 357.15;

Group III: Claims 24-33, drawn to a method of acquiring a signal including determining movement in excess of a threshold and compensating acquisition data in response to the movement, classified in class 455, subclass 441; and
